D/FW area businesses have a great opportunity to reduce operating expenses with the opening of a new Alliance Cost Containment location

Dallas, TX – A new Alliance Cost Containment location has opened in the Dallas/Ft Worth Metroplex to help companies in the area increase profitability by reducing operating expenses. The new ACC franchise is owned and operated by Chris Carroll. Chris, who is originally from Arlington, TX, is a well-rounded professional whose career began as an electronics technician. He migrated to the IT field as a technologist and then into the IT executive ranks. In recent years, Chris has specialized in project and program management, including project portfolio management and is certified as a project management professional (PMP) by the Project Management Institute.

"With the opening of an Alliance Cost Containment business in the D/FW area, businesses now have a wide range of new tools available to assist in reducing overhead costs," said Carroll. "Using the negotiated national purchasing contracts and proprietary methodology of Alliance Cost Containment, we can review costs and offer savings opportunities in over two dozen expense areas. And since all work is done on a contingent fee, gain-sharing basis, clients incur no costs unless and until we save them money."
